Recommendation letter for Mr. Lu Ziang

To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing to provide my recommendation for Mr. Lu Ziang (Andrew) who served as an HR Intern in Operations Section from 18 October 2023 to 17 April 2024. Andrew's main tasks included:

- Provide general support to HR Team daily operations.
- Help with internal and external job advertisement, liaises with candidates in the various stages of the recruitment process.
- Support the onboarding of new staff and the orientation/induction process.
- Assists team in organizing and conducting courses, workshops, and events by providing logistical and secretarial support.
- Assist with HR file archiving and document library maintenance.
- Other duties and ad hoc assignment.

During his internship assignment, Mr. Lu Ziang was in charge of local recruitment platform management and overall coordination for recruitment. He developed job vacancy summary for office social media and contributed to HR annual report and analysis. He also provided help in intern recruitment CV screening. In daily operations he assisted in file archiving, meeting minutes taking and logistic supports. He knew how to use different advanced tools and various methods to help with work. He demonstrated very good analytical capabilities combined with the ability to learn and accumulate knowledge through practical experience. Andrew proved to be hardworking as well as able to work independently and accomplish tasks in a timely manner. He is a good tempered and sociable person who is pleasant to work with. He naturally maintains good working relationships with all staff, especially with peers.

I wish Mr. Lu Ziang every success and am confident that he is capable of making an impressive career.

Sincerely,

Tao Fu
